

Norma has decided to retire, but she offered a warm farewell message to the SASLPA membership. As always, she leaves us with words to reflect upon:

“Will you pass on my sincerest positive regards to those who know me? I have decided not to renew my licensure this year as retirement is SO compelling.

With this decision comes a host of happy memories: of a time when we all cared so desperately about our profession, a time we understood that SASLPA was US, not some obscure THEM, a time when nothing mattered so much as the smile on the face of a proud parent, a time when we imagined we could "fix" 'em all if we could find the time... Well, I'm sure you know what I mean . . .”

Thank you, Norma, for your years of dedication to the profession of Speech-Language Pathology in Saskatchewan, and for your involvement with SASLPA. We wish you a relaxing and fulfilling retirement!
